

Winter Book Bingo

How to play is a lot like regular Bingo. You can do this as a family or individually. Complete each square and color it in. Or on the back create your own Bingo board. Have fun!

Read a book written by an African or African American.	Read a book with a strong female lead.	Ask a librarian for a book recommendation and read it.	Read a book that takes place in a third world country.	Read 2 NEW books in a 2 week period.
Reread a book that you haven't read in over 2 years.	Read a book about love or romance (it can be a romance novel or a	Read a book that is also a movie. Once you have completed the book watch the	Do you have a library card? If not, it's time to get one! Call or email us to get an	Try out Hoopla – and read a book from there.
Read a book that takes place in Europe	Read a book with a Green Cover.	Free Space	Listen to an audiobook. It's a great way to hear the story.	Try a new author you have never heard of before.
Read a How-to-book and try one of the suggestions from it.	Read with a loved one (a child, a parent or a friend).	Read a book that has been on your to-read list for more than a year.	Read in a different room or comfy spot in your home.	Start reading a book series.
Read a book with a Blue Cover.	Read different genre you haven't tried before like Westerns, Romance, Young Adult and Mystery to name a few).	Read a book that has a winter setting.	Try out our Libby App! It's free and a great way to listen to audiobooks and read eBooks.	Sign up for Beanstack and complete the activities for our Winter Reading Challenge for the month of February!

Winter Book Bingo

Here is your chance to create your own Book Bingo Board. Each square can be reading related or you can add activities like helping a neighbor by shoveling their sidewalk when it snows, or trying something new for an example reading on an e-reader. Have fun but remember to color your squares as you complete each task!

		Free Space		